of the Khyber Rifles

By TALBOT
MUNDY

Author of Rung Ho!

IMAGINE India for a background,—the India of grandeur, squalor, cruelty, charm, nobility and treachery all commingled; the India of teeming streets and magic palaces, of troops entraining and stifling journeys, the India of scorching plains and windy hills, the India immemorially old and ever new, the India of war-stirred intrigue and secret service, the India of mystery, mystery, mystery.

IMAGINE a story written with power, with invention and the thrill of perilous adventure in the unknown. Throw over it the elusive, intangible spell of a strange and enchanting woman.

AND you have some idea of what this book presents.

A great big new novel by the author of "ROUTLEDGE RIDES ALONE"

THE LAST DITCH

By WILL LEVINGTON COMFORT

12mo. Net $1.35

A romance of peril and adventure, an intensely modern epic of human love at its best and highest, full of insight and wisdom and broad visioning, wrought by one of the finest literary artists of the day, is this novel entitled "The Last Ditch."

It is all told in that glowing colorful style, reminding one of some splendid fabric, rainbow-hued, threaded with gold, of which Mr. Comfort is now the master. It is an unusual style, original, daring, flexible—in which the heights and depths of human feeling—those experiences which transcend all speech save that of a very few—find marvelously clear expression.

POSTAL RATE CHANGES POSSIBLE

It is reported that there is more than a likelihood of a "sweeping readjustment" of postal rates in the forthcoming session of Congress, the likelihood being partly based on the fact that the railway mail pay question, which absorbed most of the attention of the Committee on Post Offices and Post Roads during the last session, is now regarded as at least tentatively settled by the adoption of the space system of charges, tho railroad officials do not regard this as a permanent basis for settlement—and partly on the growing popular agitation for lower letter postage rates. It is said that the activities of the various bodies working for lower letter postage have resulted in petitions to Congress bearing over five million names and the House and Senate Committees have received thousands of letters besides. This decreased letter rate is one of the two chief proposed "readjustments": the other is the long-advocated increase in the second class rate.

The latter now takes the form of a proposed zone system which, especially if it follows the present complicated and obnoxious zone system of the parcel post, will probably be as stoutly opposed by periodical publishers as any increase of flat rate would be. Some form of a zone system, however, would not be without its advantages. Whether the one-cent-letter-postage advocates will win their campaign immediately is a good deal of a question. It is a reduction bound to come eventually, but there is a good deal else of even greater importance to claim the present attention of Congress. A granting of the one-cent letter rate on local letters, however, is not unlikely, a sort of entering wedge for which there is more immediate justification.

Any proposal to hedge the mailing of second-class matter with further restrictions, burdensome in most cases in annoyance far beyond any compensatory financial saving, is certainly a step in the wrong direction. What thousands of periodicals want is better mail service not poorer, less "regulation" not more; and a very great number of them, we believe, would be willing to pay a higher rate for prompter deliveries and freedom from the constant petty annoyances that do so much to make the publisher's life a burden.

This leads to one solution of the second class mail problem, namely, an optional "preferred" second-class mail service, which any periodical might secure regularly on application by paying the preferred rate. For a newspaper like the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, where promptness of delivery is an essential element in subscription value, such a "preferred service" would be most welcome, especially if it secured the same independence as all other mail matter enjoys. Such a plan would, we believe, net the Post Office Department a considerable increase of revenue and, since acceptance of it would be entirely optional, should meet with no objection from periodical publishers.

The most obvious abuse of postal rates awaiting correction is, of course, the delivery of country newspapers free. There is no reason, of course, why the government should give one class of publishers for nothing what it charges another class for—no reason, that is, except fear of personal political consequences, but obviously that has in the past been an extremely potent reason.

The crying need in our postal situation is for the reorganization of our Post Office Department on business and non-partisan lines, as provided in the elaborate codification formulated some years ago and brought before successive Congresses since. This leaves the Postmaster-General, as a member of the Cabinet, the only political appointee, as the Director of Posts, like the general manager of a business corporation, and his divisional superintendents, would be of permanent tenure during efficiency. Any detailed legislation should be conformed to this model, so as to fit into the reorganization code when it is adopted. The codification bill, in its present shape, is cumbrous in its elaboration of detail and will need amendment in the direction of simplicity, but it is a long step forward and lesser steps should be kept in pace with it.

A RECENT issue of the American Printer comments on the present postal requirement that first-class postage shall be paid on authors' manuscripts when not accompanied by printers' proofs. This does seem unjust to authors, for writers for publication not only must pay first-class postage on manuscripts when they are sent for editorial consideration, but custom requires that return postage shall be inclosed and as some writers find it necessary to submit manuscripts as many as a dozen times before they are finally accepted, it will be seen that the postage expense is likely to be disproportionately high compared with the sum that is usually paid for manuscripts. Men making a livelihood in other lines are allowed lower rates for the mailing of their merchandise and, as the American Printer suggests, that is all manuscript is.

THE POSITION OF PAPER IN THE MARKETS OF THE WORLD

THE war has produced a batch of essays covering the manufacture of paper from the first leaf and fibre to a book by Teubner and the Oxford University Press, says an ably written consideration in the New York Times of present difficulties with regard to supply and demand of materials, of methods of manufacture and of remedial measures applied in different countries. From Salzmänn's work on the mercantile economy of the trade, "Die Papierindustrie," to the technical and botanical treatise of Montessus, "Fabrication des Celluloses," is the range compassed by professional writers on paper making; it might be even truer to say that a range thru such sciences as munitions and dyes is permitted to any careful investigator who is working this field.

The point in the paper making industry that strikes the economist most is the emphasis on the fact that what tells in international paper competition is the capacity to produce on a large scale at a moment's notice. Not only the raw materials but the mills upon which the paper trade depends are international in extent. In the peculiar circumstances of the present time large orders, which are practically open to tender, go to any country, not because its workmen are better than others, but because upon short notice and within the time of contract they can furnish the work, given adequate supplies of materials. The capacity of rapid production depends simply upon having a large plant running always at full pressure. This in its turn depends upon the certainty of the home market, which enables the manufacturer to produce largely and therefore economically, with dumping as a resource to fall back upon in periods of depression caused by overproduction or overspeculation. The danger of dumping is closed for the moment.

It is closed as much as the double danger of competition from abroad and overproduction at home. Supplies from Germany and Austria have been cut off, and supplies from Norway, Sweden, Holland and Finland have been greatly affected. But if current events are any indication, the old spirit of unrest which gave the paper trade its panicky character is still here, both in those who find the money and those who find the organizing brains. Everybody is grown so cautious that nothing is done. This is not the mood by which an industry attains to and keeps ascendancy within the world of trade. The confluence of deterrent causes still makes for those old evils of the paper industry, the speculation springing from fear of high prices and the consequent decrease of production. From these the paper business never seems to emerge entirely.

But if these facts account for the success of the manufacturer in stampeding the market into panic prices, they do not account for the amount of the turnover. It is obvious, as has been pointed out by Mr. Phillips in his address on "Paper supplies as affected by the war" in the Journal of the Royal Society of Arts, that the markets are once more short of raw materials, wood pulps, esparto, rags, coal, chemicals and dyes. Formerly England imported all her wood pulp, and America, which now comes first as a paper making country, has found it difficult to supply all foreign demands, chiefly owing to high freights, which make the shipping of pulp and cheap grades of paper very expensive. Prices are hardening in all markets, and manufacturers are not ready to renew their confidence in the situation and their contracts on the old terms. The dislocation of supply is increased by other causes. Mills which formerly satisfied newspaper publishers' requirements are now taking over the manufacture of papers usually classed as foreign, greaseproofs, krafts, gold and silver foils, thin papers, wrapping paper, vegetable parchments and telegraph tapes. It would be well if the trade would sum up its position in as clear and precise a manner as possible. In the first place it is not at all plain why prices in the United States should be so high. England, for instance, imported far less news print paper in 1916 than in 1915. Lancashire mills are making up the balance, which surely should be in favor of America.

In the second place there are the new British restrictions upon imports. The prohibition of the importation of wood pulp has for its object the saving of tonnage and space in British ships, but the effect is also a saving of the American paper supply. In the third place the manufacture of "news" is immensely popular in the manufacturing centres of England. What becomes of the news print paper that formerly went to England? The gain to the United States cannot be trifling, but where does it appear? It is true that the United States exported to England 50 per cent. more "news" in 1915 than in 1914, but the absolute quantity is very small.

According to Mr. Phillips's figures it was only 4.7 per cent., a figure which included some writing papers. Yet the United States is the chief producer of the world's supply. In fact in the figures published by G. R. Snellman of Helsingfors, the world's production of paper and boards in 1912 was approximately nine and a half millions of tons, of which about 37 per cent. was produced by the United States. Canada, too, is increasing its output of paper and, as regards chemical and mechanical pulp, the situation in England is described as "satisfactory," so that we cannot suppose that the American markets are unduly depleted in this way. The explanation of the high price of paper in the United States is clearly not a simple one. Canada has, perhaps, been of assistance, but not to the extent that might be supposed. In Canada conditions resulting from the war, especially the shortage of coal, high freights and the high and fluctuating price of chemicals and other supplies, have had a depressing influence. In the first half of 1915 the output of pulp and cheap paper was about 25 per cent. less than full capacity. Canadian mills are also taking up the production of certain new specialties formerly coming from Germany.*

At the beginning of the war, says Mr. Phillips, the import of news and printing paper in England was "huge." Much of this paper came from Newfoundland. At present there is a great scarcity, and economy in paper is urgently desired. Stocks were fairly good at the beginning, but these too are getting short. News, which sold at one penny a pound, now reaches two pennies. But in Europe manufacturers and publishers are loyally trying to find the remedy. The pivots on which this movement turns are scientific as well as commercial. The paper industry is, or should be, a scientific one, that is, arranged on scientific principles. Such is the case in Europe under the conditions of the war. This flexibility of a trade before changing circumstances is an effect that our manufacturers of paper rarely attempt to study. But it would be impossible to find in Europe an industry in which more attention is given to a careful study of the botanical sources of paper, and with such marked success, as in the recent investigations of fibre and waste products of manufacture. The most insignificant tree or plant is examined, and is often found to contain subject matter for analysis and subsequent use in paper making.†

It must be confessed, however, that the paper makers understand one side of the subject, and an essential one, better than scientific students, and far better than the inexperienced and amateurish writers who declaim upon the size of newspapers. As regards "news," the chief requisite is cheapness; the prosperous newspaper with a large advertising circulation gives away twelve to twenty pages, especially in its evening editions. Until lately the demand for cheapness has been fulfilled in part, and as far as the publisher has power and office and function in the matter. And inasmuch as the life of this paper is very short, it is well to waste none of it in attempts to produce an expensive and durable article. Fibre for making news print should be delivered and marketed at the lowest possible cost. Salzmann recommends this primary rule to publishers, and advises them to own not only paper making mills but pulp mills and manufactories with large by-products of fibrous materials; to own, or at least have an interest in them. In other words, paper makers should be supplied with materials which can be used to turn out paper at economical prices. A manufacturer of this kind of paper, that is paper for newspaper purposes, should have either the by-product of some other industry, such as the crushed fibre of sugar cane, or some plant or tree which grows wild without the expense of labor for the purpose of cultivation. This point is not always understood by purely scientific and non-professional writers. They miss the limitation which much fibre has, from the paper maker's point of view, as a possible basis of profitable "news" product.

The public is easily persuaded that the growth of paper is something spontaneous, tho, of course, under the influence of surrounding things like manufacture and science, and few, it is likely, realize that paper is a necessary of life, and that its supply is not assured beyond risk. Take, for instance, the amount of wood in this country, of timber as it is often called. It is stated by the Department of Agriculture, Bulletin 309, that the growth of wood in the United States is being cut down at the rate of thirty-six cubic feet an acre every year, while the natural increase is at the rate of twelve cubic feet an acre. In other words, wood is being used three times as fast as it grows. The necessary consequence is an increase in the price of raw material and the need of finding some substitute. In Canada the case is of the same kind.

Owing to researches by Government officials and at the laboratory of the University of Wisconsin, the United States is in a better position with regard to the manufacture of fibre and half stuffs than a few years ago. The crushed fibres of sugar cane are held to be superior to others for cheap paper making purposes. Studies by the Department of Commerce show that the Southern scrub palmetto is also a useful plant. It provides fibres that dye readily, and matings, twine, binders and the like are made from them. Lately the sugar cane bagasse has come into view in Cuba. The report of the Canadian Trade Commissioner, based on studies at the University of Wisconsin, indicates that this bagasse makes excellent wrapping paper. It is carried from the sugar mill to the paper mill, placed in tanks, and boiled and digested. The only difference to a layman between bagasse paper and wood pulp paper is this process of digestion. Like wood pulp it is beaten and treated with alkalis and dried on steel drums. In these things this pulp is like most half stuffs which are brought out into the light of the present day. Probably a more valuable half stuff is the flax straw, enormous quantities of which are wasted and even burned in countries where the plant is grown for seed, linseed, as in the Western States. Cross and Bevan* assert that a half stuff cellulose is obtained from this straw that ranks very high as a paper-making material. Nowadays these half stuffs take many forms, but chiefly are admired in fibres thought to be like jute and hemp and esparto. A fibre made from tamboukie, a grass of South Africa, is a good specimen. In the Bulletin of the Imperial Institute it is said to have a promising future. It yields more pulp than Algerian esparto grass, tho a little less than Spanish esparto. It is of good quality, is easily bleached and makes a paper of fair strength.

A most interesting report is made by the United States Commercial Agent at Vera Cruz on the manufacture of paper from henequen by-products. A pulp is made from the stalks and waste, and a paper equal in quality to Swedish kraft. The bags and wrappings thus produced are strong in color and texture. A somewhat similar fibre is prepared from the malva blanca, a plant of Cuba. It has the same textile strength as Dacoa jute. These fibres, tho not yet established, are not ineffective things. The Germans, as might be expected, have found substitutes for jute and hemp. The best of these are the fibers of the Epilobium hirsutum, or rough-haired willow rose.† They have also built during the past year four new mills for the special manufacture of paper from papyrus. The English, too, have embarked on this business with due care and organization, and on a very considerable scale. Dr. Beam, in his report on the work in Egypt, shows that papyrus half stuff has some unusual features, that is, the pulp could be used as an entire furnish, without the admixture of wood or other long fibres. The color is up to the standard of ordinary bleached supply. It is a question, however, whether paper from this source is worth the expense.

BOOKS OF YEAR EXHIBITION CLOSSES AT NATIONAL ARTS CLUB

The most successful exhibition of the Books of the Year yet held in New York City closed on Wednesday evening of this week. The exhibition was held, as heretofore, in the rooms of the National Arts Club and thirty-nine publishers were represented with books and original drawings for illustrations. There was also a display of a number of modern French books.

The feature of this year's exhibition has been, however, the series of well planned and interesting "Wednesday evenings" under the auspices of the Joint Committee of the Literary Arts, representing the Authors' Club, the Authors' League, the McDowell Club, the National Arts Club, the Pen & Brush Club, the Poetry Society of America, and the Society of American Dramatists & Composers. On the first evening there was a reception to novelists and their illustrators, followed the next week by a reception to poets and their interpreters. On Wednesday of this week Ernest Peixotto presided at an informal reception at which the physical side of book-making was discussed, from the historical side by George Haven Putnam and from the standpoint of French publishing practice by Jean Alcide Picard. The evening closed with a showing of the Doubleday, Page motion pictures of the "Making of a Book."

The attendance has been unusually good this year, totaling 5700.

BOOKSELLERS' LEAGUE OFFERS PRIZES FOR BEST ARTICLES BY BOOK CLERKS

To stimulate interest in constructive book-selling, and particularly in the work of the Booksellers' League's School for Book Salesmen, the school committee of the league has been authorized to offer a series of prizes for the best papers by booksellers on subjects selected by the committee.

The competition is to be open not only to all proprietors or managers of bookstores and book departments who are members of the league in good standing, but also to all salesmen and saleswomen in bookstores or book departments of department stores in New York City and its immediate vicinity. Mr. Fremont Rider, of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, Mr. E. O. Chapman, of the Bookseller, Newsdealer and Stationer, and Mr. Charles E. Butler, of Brentano's, have been asked to act as a committee of judges on the papers submitted. Prizes of $25, $15 and $10 will be awarded to the three best papers submitted in the competition to close February 15, 1917. It is also expected that the prize-winning papers will be deemed worthy of publication in the trade papers. The committee reserves the right to withhold any or all of the prizes in case none of the papers reaches a sufficiently high standard.

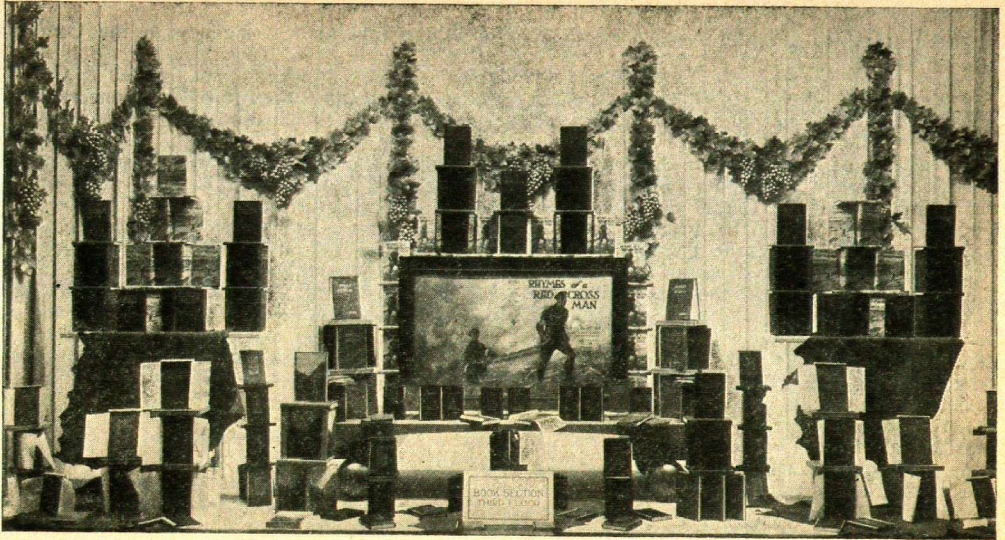

Papers submitted in this contest should be typewritten, on one side of the paper only, and should be signed by a pseudonym and accompanied by a sealed envelope containing the real name of the writer. No restriction upon form or length is made by the committee in charge, but contestants are urged to remember that brevity is the soul not only of wit, but of genuine information.

The following topics are the ones suggested for consideration:

1. The classification of store stock best suited to untrained employees.
2. What knowledge of literature is required to meet the needs of the average customer.
3. How to sell special books on special subjects.
4. How I make practical use of publishers' advertising.

5. Library methods that the bookseller may use to advantage.
6. Making the best use of book-trade journals.
7. Why books sell.
8. How the physical make-up of books might be improved.
9. Fiction should be priced higher—lower.
10. Some practical hints on increasing the sale of juveniles.
11. What the small bookstore can do with new books in foreign languages.
12. Selling subscription books thru the retail trade.

COPYRIGHT NOTES

COPYRIGHT IN TYPE FONTS

MR. JUSTICE EVE, in an English court, has just held that Messrs. Stephenson, Blake & Co., "as proprietors of the copyright in certain drawings and specimen sheets of type subsisting on July 1st, 1912 (the date when the British Copyright Act, 1911, came into operation), are now entitled to the substituted copyright under Section 24; and what the defendants, Messrs. Grant, Legros & Co., Ltd., were alleged to have done constituted an infringement of the existing copyright."

This decision is of interest because it was questioned whether Section 22 of the 1911 Copyright Act might have excluded the plaintiffs' rights, as that section provides that "This Act shall not apply to designs capable of being registered under the Patents and Designs Act, 1907, except designs which, tho capable of being so registered, are not used or intended to be used as models or patterns to be multiplied by any industrial process." Justice Eve held, however, that Section 22 "did not exclude the plaintiffs from the operation of the Act; if it did the result would be that the proprietor of a design copyrighted under the Acts of 1842 and 1862, or one of them, but not registered as an industrial design, would be deprived by the Act of 1911 of his subsisting copyright and would be unable to register his design under the Act of 1907 for want of novelty."

BOOK-TRADE ASSOCIATIONS

NEW YORK BOOKSELLERS' LEAGUE HOLDS NOVEMBER DINNER

Those who thought the New York Booksellers' League would be unable to keep up the pace set by Capt. Bartlett's talk at the October dinner were agreeably surprised at the November dinner last week. Leslie Buswell's talk and motion pictures on the work of the American Ambulance Service in France proved almost as much of a thriller as the story of the "Last Voyage of the Karluk," while Walter Prichard Eaton had some timely, tho less thrilling, things to say about the commercialization of American literature. Incidentally, the dinner was a real dinner this time, at least fifty per cent. better than the October menu.

The following new members were received into the League: Walter W. Gomlicker, with the American News Co.; Chas. E. Henley, the Norman W. Henley Pub. Co.; Sidney Steiner, the Norman W. Henley Pub. Co.; Curwen Stoddart, the N. Y. Evening Post; J. H. Zypfers, with J. W. Meyer & Co.

COMMUNICATIONS

REPRESENTATIVE OF FRENCH CERCLE DE
LA LIBRAIRIE IN THIS COUNTRY

New York City, November 28, 1916.

Editor THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY:

Let me inform you of the arrival in this country of Monsieur Louis F. Dorbon of Paris (head of the firm of Dorbon Ainé). Monsieur Dorbon is coming officially as the representative of the Cercle de la Librairie under the auspices of the French Board of Trade. As you know the Cercle de la Librairie is the Central Office of all the syndicates connected with the publishing and book-trade. Monsieur Louis Dorbon expects to continue and complete the studies for the sale of French books and publications in this country.

Consequently, all matters connected with the syndicates of publishers and book-trade must be addressed to Monsieur Louis F. Dorbon, their official agent. Mr. Dorbon's address is care of Mr. Heilmann, attaché commercial de France, 2, Rector Street, New York City.

I take this opportunity to remind you that I shall continue, as formerly, my publicity work in reference to French books and publications.

JEAN ALCIDE PICARD.

OBITUARY NOTES

MOSES E. BANKS, formerly with Ivison, Blakeman & Taylor and of recent years a director in Silver, Burdett & Co., died on November 27 in his eighty-third year.

EMILE VERHAEREN, the Belgian poet, was crushed to death at Rouen, on November 27, while endeavoring to board a train. The French government has been requested by Senator Marchand to hold a national funeral for Verhaeren. It has been suggested that his body be placed in the Pantheon in Paris until Belgium is freed. Verhaeren was born in 1855, at St. Amand, near Antwerp. He was educated at the University of Louvain and after graduation was admitted to the bar, but later gave up law to devote his time to literature. Since 1883, when his first book, "Les Flamandes," appeared, M. Verhaeren has published some fifteen or twenty books. He has only been known in this country since the outbreak of the European War but already four volumes of his plays, prose and verse have appeared here in translation: "Dawn," 1915; "Selected Poems," 1915; "Belgium's Agony," 1915; and "The Cloister," 1915.

PERSONAL NOTES

ERNST RICHERS will discontinue his present agency work and San Francisco depository on Jan. 1 to join the sales staff of the Page Company, Boston.

W. C. BELL, one of the oldest and best known bookmen in Canada, is severing his connection with the Canadian Branch of the Oxford University Press and will in future conduct a publishers' agency in the Oxford Press Building in Toronto. Mr. Bell was head of the publishing firm of Bell & Cockburn during the short life of that concern. On the failure of the business two years ago, he joined the Oxford University Press in the capacity of representative for Eastern Canadian cities. Mr. Bell has already made definite arrangements to represent in Canada the publishing firms of John Murray, T. Fisher Unwin and G. Werner Laurie of London, England, and he expects to add other British and American publishers to his list. In addition he will continue to handle the Oxford Press publications in Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, Hamilton and London. He expects to visit personally all the principal cities in Canada from Halifax to Vancouver.

PERIODICAL NOTES

Country Life in America will increase its price from four to five dollars with the February number and will shorten its name to Country Life.

WITH THE JANUARY number the Bookman will increase its yearly subscription price to $3. In February the Outlook will advance its price to $4.

THE ENGLISH BOOK-TRADE JOURNAL, the Publishers' Circular, has raised its price for single copies to threepence, for home subscription to 15 shillings, and foreign subscription to 17s. 6d.

BEGINNING WITH the first issue of 1917 the Engineering Record will change its page size to 9 x 12 inches. The McGraw Publishing Company, publisher of the Record, issues four technical periodicals in the 9 x 12 size, and by making a standard page for all five publications numerous economies will be effected.

Today's Magazine and The Housewife have been merged, to take effect with the February issue, under the name "Today's Housewife." The new magazine will be published by the Canton Magazine Co., who now publish Today's, and the editorial, business and advertising staff of Today's will conduct the new venture.

THE past two weeks has seen about sixty important trade and general periodicals announce increases in subscription rate, resulting from the inflated prices of paper. Among them were McCall's Magazine, from 50 to 75 cents; Garden Magazine, from $1.50 to $2; and Country Life in America, from $4 to $5; and The Masses, from $1 to $1.50.

Books & Authors, "the national literary newspaper," a sixteen page fortnightly "devoted to the dissemination of information about all worthy books and their writers," began its career last week. Frederick Moore is the editor and publisher and the periodical is edited and printed at the A. T. De La Mare Printing & Publishing Co. at 448 W. 37th street, New York City.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES

EVERY REPORT we get from the retail trade is of good business with every expectation of a record-breaking holiday trade.

ALL THE EVENING NEWSPAPERS of Pittsburgh raised their prices, Dec. 1, from one to two cents. "Enormous increase in the white paper" is given as the reason.

THE SUNWISE-TURN, INC., the New York book-shop, announces the appearance of its first publishing venture, Lord Dunsany's "The Night at an Inn."

THE AMERICAN BOOKPLATE SOCIETY will hold a second annual exhibition of contemporary bookplates in New York, at the Avery Library of Columbia University, from January 3 to January 17, 1917.

THE OXFORD UNIVERSITY PRESS is sending out an eight page supplementary catalog listing some 275 price changes in books published by the Clarendon Press. The prices of other books, they warn, "are subject to change without notice."

AT A RECENT largely attended meeting of the East Midland Branch of the Associated Booksellers of Great Britain, very strong sentiment developed favoring the actual boycotting of any serial (part) publications on which publishers did not offer a minimum discount of at least twenty-five per cent.

EVERY YEAR there is a new crop of children, so every year there has to be a new "Chatterbox." The Page Company announce that the 1916 "Chatterbox" is ready. Its stories, poems and pictures will keep the noisiest of the new chatterboxes quiet for an unlimited number of hours.

THE NEW YORK Evening Post is running a series of advertisements of rare manuscripts on its editorial page. These ads., the only ones on the page, appear at the top of the fifth column daily, each ad. featuring but a single manuscript, thus: "The very copy of 'Essays of Elia' that Charles Lamb presented Miss Kelly to whom he was engaged; $2400. The Rosenbach Co., 1320 Walnut St., Philadelphia."

ROBERT W. SERVICE's "Rhymes of a Red Cross Man" is reaching a height in point of sales that is not often equalled by fiction. Mr. Service's rugged poems are widely known, and this new volume is of special interest in its picture of the Red Cross work in the present war, in which the author took part. The publishers, Barse & Hopkins, announce two printings, each of 50,000, since publication day, November 11.

"A HISTORY OF MUSIC," by Sir Charles Villiers Stanford and Cecil Forsyth (Macmillan), is said to be the first book written by European scholars in which American music receives serious critical attention. Among the American composers whose work is considered may be mentioned Foote, Chadwick, Stillman Kelley, Vanderstucken, Sousa, Victor Herbert, McDowell, Horatio Parker, Loomis, Loeffler, F. S. Converse, Bradley, Farwell and D. S. Smith.

IN NORWAY, the government has solved the question of supplying the press with paper in a satisfactory and unique manner. The director of the Swedish Newspaper Union states in Lund's Dagblad that the Norwegian paper makers have agreed in consultation with the government to supply the news press with paper at 0.20 kroners (about five cents) per kilogram (or about two pounds), while the present rate for export is advanced to 0.50 kroners (about 13 cents).

AMONG THE early publications of the Century Co. is "Representative American Plays," edited by Dean Quimm of the University of Pennsylvania. It is said to be the first attempt to include in one volume a collection of plays illustrating the development of American drama from its beginning to the present day. Twenty-five plays have been selected as representative, including works of John Howard Payne, Percy MacKaye, Augustus Thomas, William Vaughn Moody, Bronson Howard, and Edward Sheldon.

THE SPANISH GOVERNMENT has officially recognized the shortage of paper and material by provisional legislation to foster the domestic industry. It is now discussing the expediency of granting a kind of credit intended to pay the difference between the price of paper before the declaration of war and the current price. The national treasury would be reimbursed for this payment by means of a tax of five centimos (about one cent) per 100 kilos on paper when normal conditions are re-established. The government has recently placed a temporary embargo on the exportation of paper stock.

AN INCREASE of 30 per cent. on all standard schedules to be followed in making estimates on printing and binding after December 1 was agreed by book, job and periodical printers of Chicago and northern Illinois at a meeting on November 23d. The increase was necessitated by increases in the price of paper, rollers, type metal, engravings, electrotypes, binding material, leather, glue and wages. In New York there has been no such general action, printers having made slight raises where absence of long term contracts made it possible and in general bearing increased costs as best they could.

THE AMERICAN BOOKSELLERS' ASSOCIATION is adopting intensive methods in its endeavor to increase its membership. The Membership Committee, of which D. K. Medcalf is chairman, is appointing state lieutenants who will endeavor to enlist the dealers in their state who do not belong to the Association. The following state lieutenants have thus far received and accepted appointment—other states will be added as rapidly as possible: New Jersey, C. Whitney Darrow, Princeton; Pennsylvania, Walter S. Lewis, Philadelphia; Maryland, Joseph Estabrook, Baltimore; Wisconsin, Wm. A. Parker, Eau Claire; Massachusetts, V. M. Schenck, Boston; Ohio, H. V. Korner, Cleveland.

MANUFACTURE OF FUEL from waste material of paper factories, an industry which holds forth promise of reducing the cost of paper and furnishing at small cost an excellent substitute for coal, is described in a report made public, November 4, by the Department of Commerce from American Consul-General Dennison at Christiania, Norway. The inventor of the coal substitute is R. V. Strelener, a Gothenburg engineer, and his process is said to be that of producing a coal in powder from the sulphite lye which is almost equal in calorific value to first-class coal, namely, 6900 calories against 7000 in the case of the best English coal.

ACCORDING to the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, machines now producing about 900 tons of news print a day will not be turning out news print two years from today on account of manufacturers' plans to put more machines on other grades of paper. On the other hand the A. N. P. A. foresees an increased tonnage by 1918 of 1000 tons of news print per day, while the Fourth Estate, after thoro investigation, predicts only 780 tons a day increase, making according to the one a net increase of 100 tons per day, and according to the other a loss of 120 tons. A hundred or so tons either way would not, however, seem to matter greatly in the light of the A. N. P. A.'s statement that according to the normal yearly percentage of increase in the demand for news print (6 per cent.) about 660 tons more a day would be required to supply the 1918 market.

BOOKSELLERS must not be surprised when dusty pedestrians come into the store and, looking around with an air of ownership, announce that they are Graysonians. Out in Garden City, the home of "David Grayson's" books and also of innumerable publicity ideas, is a man, a desk, a cubby hole or something called Graysonian Headquarters. From this "national headquarters" goes forth the good word of how to become a Graysonian: "Membership shall be open to all who welcome a closer knowledge of nature, in the open air and in good books." "Officers . . ." "Dues . . ." "At each meeting a passage from the works of David Grayson shall be read, or, from some other book describing the beauties and wonders of Nature," etc. Graysonian note paper with the "friendly road" depicted at the top may be had from "headquarters" at $3 per 1000 sheets.

THE CANADIAN Bookseller and Stationer points out that Boy Scout goods of various sorts may be pushed effectively by the booksellers, linking such sales up, of course, with boys' books. Red Cross kits, collapsible drinking cups, knives, fountain pens, Ingersoll watches, Boy Scout flags and insignia—even Boy Scout clothes—are all being sold, with profit, by Canadian booksellers. One of our own big western stores ran a Boy Scout window a while ago that brought business. "The background was painted to represent a river, upon which a war craft was sailing. Of course such an elaborate background is unnecessary—one of masses of tree branches, to suggest a woodland, would be sufficient. At either side were draped large flags, with masses of green foliage in the corners. Overhead, suspended on wires, were three miniature aeroplanes—a toy at present in high favor with young America. Three wax models in Boy Scout uniforms were shown. These were secured thru the courtesy of a local sporting goods dealer, and due mention of that fact made in a card displayed in the window. Two of these were holding aloft a large American flag, while the third was beating a tattoo on a big drum. In one corner were a pile of books and a card among them said: 'Boy Scout books. Good reading for his vacation days.' Among the books shown were three complete sets of Boy Scout stories, replete with action, books on how to make things, and several on woodcraft. At the other side was a rude table on which were shown pedometer, compass, and many of the little specialties for sale within. On a camp stool near the table was a Red Cross kit, and by it stood a bundle of rolled flags, tied together with streamers of red, white, and blue."

THE ATTENTION of the Committee of Management of the English Society of Authors has been called to the subject of the Continental book-trade by the foreign secretary of the Royal Society of Literature, who states that "The Society of Authors would be doing a great service to English authors and the English trade if it could find some means of assisting in the various literary entente movements now progressing." The English publishers have put forward the following facts in summing up the conditions confronting them if they decide to go after the Continental trade in English books:—(1) Books sent out on "sale or return" cannot be brought immediately into account. (2) Books returned may have to be rebound, thus there will be an added cost of binding. (3) The return to the publisher on copies sold abroad will have to be much smaller than on copies sold in Great Britain. (4) The cost of preparing the extra catalogs for international circulation and the cost of circulation will be an extra expense. The Committee of Management of the English Society of Authors, at the request of the Publishers' Association, have given careful consideration to the following points:—(1) If it is arranged that copies of English publications shall be sent abroad on "sale or return," would the committee on behalf of the Society recommend its members to accept a reduced royalty on copies sold in this way, at any rate for a time, until the organization is in full working order? (2) Would the Society assist in the preparation of a comprehensive scheme for catalogs intended primarily for distribution abroad but also available for use at home? On the first point the authors' committee replied that they "would encourage their members to accept a reduced proportion in the case of books sold abroad, tho they could not bind members individually to accept such reduction." Their reply to the second point was that they "do not see how they or the individual author can assist the publishers in the preparation of the catalog which it is proposed to issue, but any help that is in their power they will give."

BUSINESS NOTES

BERKELEY, CAL.—The Berkeley Book Shop has just been started at 2238 Telegraph Ave. by Harry E. Dore.

PICK-UPS

LOOKING thru the Independent to see what became of Harper's is like peering into pussy's maw to discover the whereabouts of poor mousie.—Publisher and Retailer.

THESE WOMEN!

A LADY entered a large book store in New York City and inquired of a salesman for a book which he believed to be a New Thought Book. He asked the lady if such were not the case. She looked at him indignantly and retorted, "Young man, that book is over twelve years old," and walked out of the store.

A BRAND NEW LOT OF BOOK TITLES

THE TITLE of Gilbert Cannan's new book, "Three Sons and a Mother," says the Publisher and Retailer, opens up great possibilities for authors at loss for a title. They have left to choose from: "Three Daughters and a Father," "A Father and Two Sons," "A Mother, a Son and a Daughter," "A Son, a Daughter, a Mother and a Father," "Two Twins and a First Cousin."

THE DIGNITY OF THE BOOKSELLER'S CALLING

You may have overlooked the dignity of the bookseller's calling.

The bookseller is the indispensable link between the productive brain and the eager mind.

Encourage him. Haunt his store. Ask him questions. Buy his books.

If a book is advertised or reviewed in these pages, he has it.

Sometimes it may happen that he will have to send for it, but he will do it gladly and probably can procure it more promptly than if you send to distant centres or direct to the publisher with whom you have no account.

Help to make the bookstore the intellectual centre of your town, an auxiliary to your schools and colleges, a supplement to your lecture courses.

We speak reverently of the old-time bookseller, but the best present-day booksellers are just as good book men and much better business men.—The Argonaut.

NEVERTHELESS IT MIGHT BE WORTH PUBLISHING

Some funny letters come to publishers. The following especially rich one came to Copp, Clark Co., of Toronto, from an Alberta town, under date of Jan. 4, 1916. It is reproduced here, showing the exact spelling and punctuation:

"what will you give me for a good M S of my life in the west for 7 years fighting Indians and skelping same and Indians killing white imigrants and taken there skelps and taking women and children priseners and Buffalo Bill's Doing while a young man and wild Bill and there Real names and old john Smith and jack gulley and Bill Brannan and old kit carson killing the old gringer, and his son in cross pine cangon and carried there heads in to pir Elita over 50 miles in a guny sack. I am a Eye wittness to all I Give you now my M S I would send will make a Book of 400 pages Now if you should want a M S of this kind pleas let me know and a Bout what price you would pay answer soon"—Canadian Bookseller and Stationer.

- Glyn, Elinor Sutherland [Mrs. Clayton Glyn]. The career of Katherine Bush; il. by Edm. Frederick. N. Y., Appleton. c. 392 p. pls. D $1.30 n.
Starting life as a stenographer at a London money-lender's, Katherine Bush formed her view of life from what she saw there. It was a game in which the clever and strong won. Katherine knew her will was strong enough, and she believed she was clever enough to overcome her plebian origin. Her introduction to aristocratic manners was during a week-end in Paris with Lord Algy Fitz-Rufus. After this she got a position as secretary to quite a great lady, a berth in which she acquired such poise and elegance that she felt assured of her future. When the Duke of Mordryn fell in love with her, her conscience forced her to tell him of her early affair. This courageous act only further compelled the Duke's admiration, and Katherine's career reached its goal.

The Publishers' Weekly

Subscription Rates.

One year, postage prepaid in the United States, $5.00; foreign, $6.00.

Single copies, 10 cents. Educational Number, in leatherette, 50 cents; Christmas Bookshelf, 25 cents.

Advertising Rates.

Front section (full pages only) $35 00
(Back section, unspecified position)

One page..... $30 00
Half page..... 17 00
Quarter page..... 9 00
Eighth page..... 5 00
One-sixteenth page..... 2 50

The above rates are for unspecified positions. Special rates for preferred positions (full pages only).

Higher rates are charged for the Summer Reading, Educational Number and Christmas Bookshelf, and for the monthly Book Review supplement sections.

Advertising copy should reach us Tuesday noon—earlier if proof is desired out-of-town. Forms close Thursday night.

Under the headings of "BOOKS WANTED" and "BOOKS FOR SALE" book-trade subscribers are given under their own names five nonpareil lines (exclusive of address) free advertising for specified books, not more than one title to the line, in any issue except special numbers, but not exceeding one hundred lines a year, a maximum of fifty lines under "Books Wanted" and fifty lines under "Books for Sale," and if over five lines are sent for either department in any one issue, or fifty lines for each department within the calendar year, the excess is at ten cents a line. Bills for this service will be rendered monthly. Objectionable books are excluded so far as they are noted.

In answering, please state edition, condition and price, including postage or express charges. Houses that will deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis should put [Cash] after their firm name. The appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the WEEKLY does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it endeavors to safeguard its columns by withholding the privileges of advertising should occasion arise, booksellers should take usual precautions in extending credit.

"Books Wanted" must be designated by actual title, not by "any."

Write your wants plainly, on one side of the sheet only. Illegible "wants" are ignored. The WEEKLY is not responsible for errors. Parties with whom there is no account must pay in advance.

Under "HELP WANTED" or for other small undisplayed advertisements, the charge is 10 cents a nonpareil line. No reduction for repeated matter. Count seven words to the line.

Why Speculate

On Book-Binding Material
When by Specifying

as your standard book-binding material you are assured of getting the best binding for all classes of books.

Book-Finish Fabrikoid is the successful result of expert experience and determination of a practical book-binder to give it the same superiority that distinguishes all Du Pont products.

Book-Finish Fabrikoid has the popular grain finish of leather, the colors which good taste and service demand, is immune from insect attacks, and is

Impervious to Dampness and Climatic Changes

Book-Finish Fabrikoid cuts, pastes, binds, stamps and cases same as leather. Every inch is uniform in texture, no defective, imperfect sections as frequently appears in leather. Leading binderies have adopted Book-Finish Fabrikoid and after thorough tests pronounce it far superior to much of the leather now available.

Popularize your bindings, improve your production. Make your standard Book-Finish Fabrikoid—the superior leather substitute for book-binding.

Reference List of New Publications

Recorded in NOVEMBER, 1916

This Reference List enters the books recorded during the month under (1) author, in Clarendon type, anonymous books having Clarendon type for the first word; (2) title in Roman; (3) subject-heading in SMALL CAPS; (4) name of series in Italics.

A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederick; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.

For books received sizes are given in CAPS, Q, O, D, etc., books not received sizes are given in Roman numerals, 4^o, 8^o, 12^o, etc. Prices are added except when not supplied by publisher or obtainable only on specific request. Where not specified the binding is cloth.

Those desiring to learn the entire publishing output of the month in any one field should look under one of the following MAIN HEADINGS:

PHILOSOPHY	MEDICINE	LITERATURE
RELIGION AND THEOLOGY	AGRICULTURE	POETRY
SOCIOLOGY	HOUSEHOLD ECONOMICS	DRAMA
LAW	BUSINESS	FICTION
EDUCATION	ENGINEERING, TECHNOLOGY	BIOGRAPHY
PHILOLOGY	FINE ARTS	GEOGRAPHY AND TRAVEL
SCIENCE	GAMES, SPORTS, AMUSEMENTS	HISTORY

Besides the titles listed under each of these headings cross reference is made from each to a limited number of cognate headings which collectively give all the new publications of the month in the given subject or group of subjects.

Inquirers looking for books on a specific topic should look under the general subject to which that topic belongs, i.e. GEOLOGY rather than SILURIAN PERIOD; MATHEMATICS rather than CALCULUS; ECONOMICS rather than WAGES. Books regarding specific Religious denominations, countries and persons, however, should still be sought for under their individual names.

There Are Different Ways of Getting New Customers

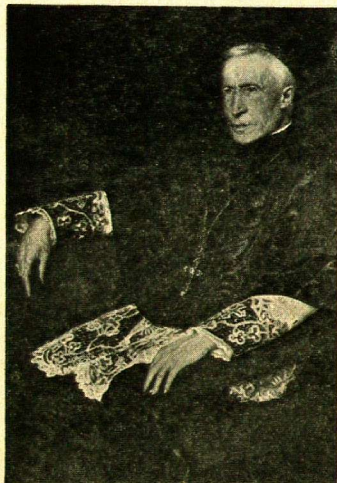

A great majority of our customers come to us through the recommendations of those whose work we have handled to their satisfaction. The following is from the publisher of a recent book:

"The book is well printed and nicely bound, and is a credit to the Vail-Ballou Co."

We believe that no concern possesses an asset that is comparable in value with a long list of satisfied customers.

FROM INTRODUCTION

"The following selections from my Essays and Sermons have been put together, in the first place, because I thought that some of them might be valuable for the history of the many years through which it has pleased God to spare my life. I have lived a long time, and I have lived through a very critical time, not only have I held office many years, but I have held office during a time of transition when the old order was changed."

"Incontestably the most important book of the year."—New Statesman.

Shakespeare's England

Being an account of the life and manners of his age. By thirty-eight collaborators, including Robert Bridges, Sir Walter Raleigh, W. Archer, W. J. Lawrence, D. Nichol Smith. Edited by C. T. ONIONS. Two vols. Med. 8vo, cloth, pp. xxiv+1156, with many illustrations. Net $10.00

"We cannot too strongly commend this book to every reader of Shakespeare."—Spectator.

"These two volumes enshrine in a permanent form everything we know or need to know about the England of Shakespeare's day."—Pall Mall Gazette.

The Provocation of France Fifty Years of German Aggression

By JEAN CHARLEMAGNE BRACQ. Crown 8vo, cloth, pp. vii+202. Net $1.25

This book describes acts and events which have taken place within the range of the author's recollection. It is not a book of erudition, but the simple putting together of facts which scarcely any one denies to-day, yet which point to an almost constant aggression against France.

British Colonial Policy, 1783-1915

By C. H. CURREY. 16mo, cloth, pp. 266. 85c.

A study of Great Britain's colonial policy since 1783. As regards the future, the author, Lecturer in History at Sydney, thinks Imperial Federation impracticable and that a Britannic Co-operative Alliance has scope and vista.

Publications of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace

The Colonial Tariff Policy of France

By ARTHUR GIRAULT. Edited by C. GIDE. Royal 8vo, cloth, pp. xx+302. $2.50

The student of the evolution of French colonial tariff policy is able to distinguish six more or less clearly defined stages. In the present work a separate chapter is devoted to each of these stages.

Economic Protectionism

By J. GRUNZEL. Edited by E. VON PHILIPPOVITCH. Royal 8vo, cloth, pp. xiv+306. $2.90

Deals with the origin, subjects, and objects of World Economy and the international exchange of commodities; the Directions assumed by Economic Protectionism, and the protection effecting commodities, capital, and labour, by negative and positive measures; and the effects of Economic Protectionism, with the effects of commodity, capital, and labour protection, and economic protection in general.

A Book of Homage to Shakespeare

Edited by ISRAEL GOLLANCZ, Honorary Secretary of the Shakespeare Tercentenary Committee, 1916. Med. 4to, cloth, pp. 588, with nine illustrations. Net $8.00

A collection of 166 tributes from the British Empire, the allied nations, and various neutral states. Among the contributors are: Thomas Hardy, Viscount Bryce, Cardinal Gasquet, Mrs. Meynell, Edmund Gosse, Sir Sidney Colvin, Rudyard Kipling, Sir Rabindranath Tagore, and Maurice Maeterlinck.

"A splendid tribute worthy of the occasion and of the man in whose honour it is produced."—Daily Telegraph.

"A most sumptuous, artistic and handsome volume."—Daily Chronicle.

"A very stately and memorable volume, quite the most remarkable of its kind in existence."—Observer.

Sadoletto on Education

A Translation of the De Pueris, Recte Institutendis, with notes and an introduction, by E. T. CAMPAGNAC and K. FORBES. Medium 8vo, cloth, pp. vi+142. $2.50

"It is a distinct service to the study of the history of education that Professor Campagnac and Mr. Forbes have offered to English readers their delightful translation."—London Times.

Historical Geography of the British Colonies

Originally designed and in great part written by SIR CHARLES LUCAS.

VOL. VII, India. Part I, History to the end of the East India Company, by P. E. ROBERTS. Cr. 8vo, cloth, pp. iv+416. maps. $1.60

The author acted as assistant to Sir W. W. Hunter during the closing years of his life, working on the Imperial Gazetteer of India. A second part will bring the history down to the present day, and a third will deal exclusively with the geography.

The Story of Buddhism

By K. J. SAUNDERS. Crown 8vo, cloth, pp. 168. $1.15

This is a simple yet accurate and sympathetic account of the religion of Gautama Buddha and its development.

Political Ballads

Illustrating the Administration of Sir Robert Walpole. Edited, with introduction and notes, by M. PERCIVAL. 8vo, cloth, pp. lxiii+212. $2.90
(Oxford Historical and Literary Studies, Vol. VIII.)

The Ballads here collected are treated in turn from the point of view of history, literature, and with their tunes, of music, and the general situation out of which each arose is sketched in the separate introductions.
